

Three Broughton girls competed in the Scottish Heat of British School Gymnastics Association School finals on Friday 13 March: Honor Martin, Helena Duncan and Emma Jones.

The girls competed very well on Friday finishing in 17th place out of the whole of Britain. This is a fantastic achievement for the girls who have only been doing school gymnastics since August. They managed to improve on all of their scores from the heats, improving their group routine by a massive 6 marks! They also helped Scotland to come 5th out of 12 regions.

Their behaviour and attitude was fantastic and the head of delegation from Scottish Gymnastics continually praised the girls for this. They really did do Broughton proud!

The girls are already busy planning what they can do to better their performance if they qualify next year.
