

Dear

Your S6 Studies

Congratulations on receiving an unconditional offer.

Your school qualifications aren't just about getting into university. They provide a solid foundation for university-level study. I strongly encourage you to continue to commit fully to your S6 studies. It is in your best interests.

Studies undertaken by the universities show that students who have worked hard and done well in S6 make the smoothest transition to university and get better degrees as a result.

I realise that this may seem a very long way away now, but doing well in S6 is also likely to give you an edge when you come to apply for jobs after university.

Graduate employers are typically interested in all of your qualifications, not just your degree. By achieving well in S6 as well as S5, you will show that you are able to think beyond the short term, and commit to your personal development.

Our assessment of your application to study with us will have included your S6 studies and predicted grades. If you plan to drop any subjects in S6 that you included in your UCAS application you must contact us first.

Yours sincerely

Dr Sue Rigby
